

Fayetteville NC Eye Care Practice Selected As Member Of Local Business Group

For Immediate Release: March 13, 2014 Fayetteville NC: Eye care center in Fayetteville NC selected as most recent addition to the Fayetteville Business Connection, a group of local businesses which demonstrate above average service.

Eye Medics Eye Care & Orthokeratology Center in Fayetteville NC has been added as the newest member of the Fayetteville Business Connection group. The practice is operated by husband and wife owners Dr. James Singletary O.D., and Dr. Eva Shiao O.D.

FBC consists of three dozen local businesses and groups which meet a required set of practices, including but not limited to: integrity, good products and services, honesty, consistency and friendly to the military whose Fort Bragg base is one of the largest in the country.

Each business must also display the willingness to educate and answer questions from local consumers, thereby providing free, useful information to help them in their buying decisions.

Businesses are selected by a team of researchers who search for one business per industry which provides essential services that consumers need in their lives and ranges from auto sales and repairs to internal medicine to weight control and fitness.

Dr. James Singletary, although educated and trained as a traditional Optometrist with all the requisite skills, additionally champions the practice of Orthokeratology, also called Ortho K, a little known alternative to Lasik eye surgery.

Ortho K is effective on children and adults and consists of contact lens therapy to reshape the cornea for better vision. He tirelessly promotes the process through public presentations and speeches, radio interviews and referrals.

Similarly trained in Optometry, Dr. Eva Singletary devotes her concentration towards children and the elderly with their unique situations and issues including lack of visual acuity, dry eyes, glaucoma, cataracts and correct eyewear fit.

According to Don Matheson, FBC President and CEO, "The doctors at Eye Medics have displayed the motivation to provide information and procedures for effective eye care to as many people as they can reach and that philosophy extends throughout the practice. They are a welcome addition to our group."
